A Dry Match For Light Meat

Grüner veltliner, Austria's signature white, is soaring in popularity across America. Young sommeliers match it with fish, shellfish, fowl, white meats and salads.

Meinhard Forstreiter's dry 2007 Grooner from Kremstal, a Danube region, hits the bull's-eye. It's zippy and peppery, and the delicious aftertaste goes on and on.

Chelsea Wine Vault, 75 Ninth Avenue (Chelsea Market), charges $9.99.
