

Press

Wine Spectator June 15 2008

Trockenbeereausles 2004 (91 Points)

Baked apple, peach cobbler and pie crust aromas and flavors are thick and rich. Finishes with toast and butter and marmalade notes. Chardonnay, Pinot Blanc, Sauvignon Blanc and Riesling. Drink now through 2018. 192 cases made-KM

Wine & Spirits (April 2007)

2003 Burgenland Comondor (91)

Blended from merlot, cabernet sauvignon and zweigelt, this is dark and deeply flavored, with expansive aromas of cherry, black plum, bacon and damp earth. The finish is pure cabernet, with taut gripping tannins and perfumed aromas of cassis and lead pencil. Its feral, woody edge suggests a pairing with game.

2005 Burgenland Blauer Zweigelt (88)

Peppery, mouthwatering notes of raspberry and black plum contrast the firm grip of tannin that dominates the finish. Pair it with bacon-wrapped squab or something equally rich.

Stephen Tanzer International Wine Cellar, Peter Moser, (Nov/Dec 2006)

2004 A & H Nittnaus Pannobile (91)

Dark ruby-garnet with violet highlights. Dark berries, ripe plum and spices on the nose, with a subtle vegetal nuance adding complexity. Jammy berry and oak flavors are framed by fresh acids and supported by firm texture. This is just about ready to drink. Drink from 2007 to 2014.

2004 A & H Nittnaus Leithaberg Rot (92)

Deep dark ruby-garnet with violet highlights. Highly complex aromas and flavors of dark berries, cigar tobacco, raisin, minerals, herbs and spices. Very stylish and uncompromisingly dry wine with a long, chocolatey aftertaste. No shortage of character here. Drink from 2007-2015.

2003 A & H Nittnaus Comondor (92)

Dark ruby-garnet with violet highlights. Multidimensional nose offers cassis, ripe cherry, spices, sweet tobacco and chocolate. Quite opulent and full-bodied, conveying an impression of enormous extract and fruit sweetness. Supple and seamless. Finishes with abundant ripe tannins and a flavor of bitter chocolate. This is just beginning to offer pleasurable drinking now and should enjoy a long life in the bottle.

Drink from 2007-2015.